

AFAA is committed to protecting your privacy and utilizing technology that gives you the most powerful and safe online experience. This Statement of Privacy applies to our website and governs data collection and usage. By using the AFAA website, you consent to the data practices described in this statement.

Collection of your Personal Information

AFAA collects personally identifiable information, such as your email address, name, home or work address or telephone number. We also collect anonymous demographic information, which is not unique to you, such as your ZIP code, age, gender, preferences, interests and favorites

There is also information about your computer hardware and software that is automatically collected by AFAA. This information can include: your IP address, browser type, domain names, access times and referring website addresses. This information is used by AFAA for the operation of the service, to maintain quality of the service, and to provide general website usage statistics

Please keep in mind that if you directly disclose personally identifiable information or personally sensitive data through AFAA public message boards, this information may be collected and used by others. Note: AFAA Does Not read any of your private online communications.

AFAA encourages you to review the privacy statements of Web sites you choose to link to from AFAA so that you can understand how those Web sites collect, use and share your information. AFAA is not responsible for the privacy statements or other content on Web sites outside of the AFAA website.

Use of your Personal Information

AFAA collects and uses your personal information to operate the AFAA Web site and deliver the services you have requested. AFAA also uses your personally identifiable information to inform you of other products or services available from AFAA and its affiliates. AFAA may also contact you via surveys to conduct research about your opinion of current services or of potential new services that may be offered.

AFAA does not sell, rent or lease its customer lists to third parties. AFAA may, from time to time, contact you on behalf of external business partners about a particular offering that may be of interest to you. In those cases, your unique personally identifiable information (e-mail, name, address, telephone number) is not transferred to the third party. In addition, AFAA may share data with trusted partners to help us perform statistical analysis, send you email or postal mail, provide customer support, or arrange for deliveries. All such third parties are prohibited from using your personal information except to provide these services to AFAA and they are required to maintain the confidentiality of your information.

AFAA does not use or disclose sensitive personal information, such as race, gender, religion, or political affiliations, without your explicit consent.

AFAA keeps track of the Web sites and pages our customers visit within AFAA, in order to determine what AFAA services are the most popular. This data is used to deliver customized content and advertising within AFAA to customers whose behavior indicates that they are interested in a particular subject area.

AFAA Web sites will disclose your personal information, without notice, only if required to do so by law or in the good faith belief that such action is necessary to: (a) conform to the edicts of the law or comply with legal process served on AFAA or the site; (b) protect and defend the rights or property of AFAA; and, (c) act under exigent circumstances to protect the personal safety of users of AFAA, or the public.

Use of Cookies

The AFAA Web site use "cookies" to help you personalize your online experience. A cookie is a text file that is placed on your hard disk by a Web page server. Cookies cannot be used to run programs or deliver viruses to your computer. Cookies are uniquely assigned to you, and can only be read by a web server in the domain that issued the cookie to you.

One of the primary purposes of cookies is to provide a convenience feature to save you time. The purpose of a cookie is to tell the Web server that you have returned to a specific page. For example, if you personalize AFAA pages, or register with AFAA site or services, a cookie helps AFAA to recall your specific information on subsequent visits. This simplifies the process of recording your personal information, such as billing addresses, shipping addresses, and so on. When you return to the same AFAA Web site, the information you previously provided can be retrieved, so you can easily use the AFAA features that you customized. You have the ability to accept or decline cookies. Most Web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. If you choose to decline cookies, you may not be able to fully experience the interactive features of the AFAA services or Web sites you visit.

Security of your Personal Information

AFAA secures your personal information from unauthorized access, use or disclosure. AFAA secures the personally identifiable information you provide on computer servers in a controlled, secure environment, protected from unauthorized access, use or disclosure. When personal information (such as a credit card number) is transmitted to other Web sites, it is protected with encryption, such as the Secure Socket Layer (SSL) protocol.

Changes to this Statement

AFAA will occasionally update this Statement of Privacy, without prior notice, to reflect company and customer feedback. AFAA encourages you to periodically review this Statement to be informed of how AFAA is protecting your information.
